

Lucy Ampaw-Asiedu

University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Durham School of Architectural Engineering and Construction

I am a Master of Science in Architectural Engineering student at University of Nebraska-Lincoln. I obtained my Bachelor of Science (B.Sc.) in Architecture and Master of Architecture (M.Arch) degrees in Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology (KNUST), Kumasi, Ghana. Past research was Architects' Response in designing in earthquake-prone areas in Ghana. Currently my research is focused on Disaster management of hospitals in the Midwest. I am excited to be a BAF fellow in order to explore how my research can help create mechanism to lessen the impact of disasters.